Choice Novel Project Tic Tac Toe

First, choose a novel to read for your project. Then choose a path (vertical, horizontal, or diagonal) to complete. Complete each of the three items in that portion of the tic tac toe board to receive full credit. There is an assignment page for each of these items that gives you the full details of the assignment. You may complete the three options you select in any order you wish.

Summary Sheet

The Five Rules of Writing a Summary

- 1. A good summary should give an objective outline of the whole piece of writing. It should answer basic questions about the original text such as "Who did what, where, and when."
- 2. A good summary is based on fact; please do not include your opinion of the piece.
- 3. A good summary should not include specific examples, details, or information which is not relevant to whole selection.
- 4. A good summary may use key words from the original text but should not contain whole phrases or sentences from the original.

Theme CRE Sheet

In order to find theme, we often ask questions like

- What ideas seem to be repeated in the text?
- What does the protagonist learn?
- How does the protagonist grow?
- How is the conflict developed and resolved?

Conflict CRE Sheet

Conflict is when two different forces are fighting against one another. There are six forms of conflict we discussed in class:

- man v man
- man v nature
- man v supernatural

- man v society
- man v technology
- man v self

Choose one of these conflicts and apply it the primary conflict in your novel.

Plot Chart Sheet

Plot refers to all the events/action in a given story. There are six parts of plot:

- exposition
- initiating event
- rising action

- climax
- falling action
- resolution

Use the chart below to add in at least ten different events to the plot chart for your story. You must include at least one item for each section (i.e. one event in the exposition and one in the falling action). If you need additional space, you may number the lines/points on the graph and attach a sheet of paper with the complete event description.
